

TV On The Radio, New Health Rock

Why so pathetic?
Never thought you'd lie
In the heavenly light
In such a sinister way
Roll your eyes all day
At all the people kickin'
Golden girls, stop and stare
Double decker, so lookin' pretty.

Why such a serious miss
Just made my serious list.

Now I demand that you act like I don't know.
Go where you want.
And if it drops too hot,
better drop it like it's hot, so.

Listen up every battle ever ever
But if you don't go now, then you might not never.

Listen up every battle ever ever
But if you don't come now, then you might not never.

Listen up every battle ever ever
But if you don't blaze now, then you might not never.

Listen up every battle ever ever
But if you don't go now, then you might not never.

You might call me a medic
And move forward
So sick of the sober
Hear bombs drop
But God you came to get lost
Oh this fashion
Burnin' by fashion

And she told you should shut it
And dare not lazy aesthetic
And remember this white stone dangerous
Open wide to it
Shake it like you have to let it drop and let it drown you

Listen up every battle ever ever
But if you don't go now, then you might not never.

Listen up every battle ever ever
But if you don't come now, then you might not never.

Listen up every battle ever ever
But if you don't blaze now, then you might not never.

Listen up every battle ever ever
But if you don't go now, then you might not never.

Get it started
Wipe the dust off your heals
Let it roll let it peel
Quit actin' so shy and unsure
So detached and in your cue
Your pullin' let it move you
Put your body on automatic

Lose control, let it in

Spin it, ride, you can bend
And guide you
Under red lights
Well into the night
And if we work it like we wanna
We can swell into the skin tight

Listen up every battle ever ever
But if you don't go now, then you might not never.

Listen up every battle ever ever
But if you don't come now, then you might not never.

Listen up every battle ever ever
But if you don't blaze now, then you might not never.

Listen up every battle ever ever
But if you don't go now, then you might not never.

Go, go.