

Tweaker, After All

Dark night is dawning after all
Strength less but standing after all
I do not fear this after all
Not quite so fearless after all

After all the waning moon is full
After all the rain it feels so cool
Hope can we sing, it help me survive your games
But I am not playing after all

Nothing you do can stop me, I live today
Nothing you say can keep me, I'm on my way
What will you scream when there's nothing left to say
And who will you rule when no one is left to play

Your party's over after all
A part of me missing through it all
Hope can we sing, it helped me survive your games
I'm not your plaything after all

Nothing you do can stop me, I live today
Nothing you say can keep me, I'm on my way
What will you scream when there's nothing left to say
And who will you rule when no one is left to play
