

Two Thirty Eight, Forty Hour Increments

Save yourself or you'll be murdered
in forty hour increments,
I'm certain that the evidence will shock you.

Subsequently they'll fill your chair,
forgetting of your sitting there.
Quickly they'll fill your chair,
forgetting of your sitting there.

Don't be afraid to pack your things
and leave the comfort money brings,
and find your own way out of here alone.
'Cause we're all homeless anyway,
we're searching in so many ways.
I do believe there is a place for us.
