

Tyler Kyte, Happiness

Im walking on down the street
My breath in front of me
Street lights shining in the snow
The dusk is settling
The day is ending
The cold winter wind blows
Its quiet outside tonight
The stars are shining bright
Hope is favored in my mind
And though Im shivering
And tonight is blistering
For the moment Im fine
Open your eyes tonight
Open your eyes tonight
Its a long way to happiness
But Ill keep walking all night
Its a long way to happiness
Some day Ill be alright
I think about days back when Things were much simpler then
Making angels out of the snow
But now it feels bitter cold
And I fear growing old
Those days seem so long ago
Well open your eyes tonight
Open your eyes tonight
Its a long way to happiness
But Ill keep walking all night
Its a long way to happiness
Some day Ill be alright
Oh some day be alright
Some day Ill be alright
Its a long way to happiness
But Ill keep walking all night
Its a long way to happiness
Some day Ill be alright
Some day Ill be alright