

Tyler Kyte, Some Things Are Better Left Alone

You've never been this distant
Since the day we first met
Now you're standing there tongue tied
I know you're hiding something
And you keep it blinded
I can see it in your eyes
Oh no your suddenly clouded
And the deeper I go the more I'm drowning
If what you don't know won't hurt you
Then maybe this is better left alone till you figure out what's wrong
If you choose to leave today i won't be standing in your way
I can't wait here anymore
Well some things are better left alone
You could lie to me but that won't change a thing
Cuz the bigger picture's gone
Oh it could be a misunderstanding
But the deeper I go the more your hiding
If what you don't know won't hurt you
Then maybe this is better left alone till you figure out what's wrong
If you choose to leave today I won't be standing in your way
I can't wait here anymore
Well some things are better left alone
Well some things are better left alone
If what you don't know won't hurt you
Then maybe this is better left alone till you figure out what's wrong
If you choose to leave today I won't be standing in your way
I can't wait here anymore
If what you don't know won't hurt you
Then maybe this is better left alone till you figure out what's wrong
If you choose to leave today I won't be standing in your way
I can't wait here anymore
Well some things are better left alone
If what you don't know won't hurt you
Some things are better left alone
