

Tyrant Tea Club, Down Deep

Nobody feels any pain; hearts are broken every day something else you like to talk about?
As you stare out in the rain no one there to soothe your fright, no one left to hold you tight you're so far from where you've been won't remember anything but down deep, down deep

Nobody hides any fears, sun is shining every day but it's plain to see, that you only taste the salt, when you kiss away some tears.

No one there to soothe your fright, no one left to pull you tight I've come to find,
I'll never know your changing mind

but down deep, down deep

you feel it deep inside, down deep inside...
