

Ultimate Fakebook, She Don't Even Know My Name

She don't even know my name
She won't even look my way
In a word, I'm a dog and it chills me to the bone
All I want is just to walk her home

She asked me if I heard her say that she's just fine on her own
But I don't like I always do
As if it matters, cause we're only in a school zone

When she looks at me her eyes are cold
She thinks I'm acting five years old
And I will prove her wrong
If it kills me, then so what
At my funeral just play "Home Sweet Home"

She asked me if I heard her
say that she's just fine on her own
But I don't like I always do
As if it matters, cause we're only in a
school zone

And there's one chance left to get it on
Just one chance left,
Cause soon she'll be gone
And there's one chance left to get it on
She called me a four-eyes and my glasses weren't on

She don't wanna stay here too long - I can feel it And she don't wanna change to belong, and she wants to know why the world's so serious Cause she don't know what for?
Hope we fall in love before I wake up

Cause there's one chance left to get it on
Just one chance left,
Cause soon she'll be gone
And there's One chance left
Just one chance left
Cause soon she'll be gone
One chance left
Just one chance left, ooh
One chance left

If I don't go get that girl now I won't find one at all

Cause nothin' ever lasts for long
Nothing ever lasts for long
Nothing ever lasts for long