

Umbrellas, Again And Again

So where is the piano and the big big bass drum?
And the clashing of cymbals
I need some running frantic notes
Some lines of panic and desperation
'Cause your infatuation demands satisfaction
I'm trying my best. I won't quit.
I'm trying not to disappoint.

Again and again
Here we go, just to balance you out
I'm on fire and this is about how our song came on
And we sang along, so sing along

The pictures are all falling down
The ground started shaking without you around
So where are you? I'm so lost
I'm running through town screaming curses
And you cleared out all the poison
