

Umbrellas, Ships

Just like ships
We float through each other's lives
Through the waters of beauty and grace
We will one day dock at the same port
And give rest to our weary legs

There is a light placed up in the sky
Like the stained glass, time slows down
I wish I could sleep
I wish I could dream

I love the sound of my feet
Against these empty streets
I saw the whole town burn down
I'm walking away
Nothing stays, these feelings have wings
Our arms outstretched, we are soaring
