

UnchainD, Crying Out

This song was written in memory of September 11th 2001

Sitting alone with time to think of what went down in the city today

Lives were crushed in a second with no chance to get away

Crying out for Your spirit today

Try to help me understand the pain and loss thats in our hands

The buildings that crumbled down left a mark on my soul today

Many were lost along the way

(CHORUS)

God bless our nation today guide us through it all the way

Keep us together in love so no one can take it away

Crying out for Your spirit today

Crying out for Your spirit today

Tears are running down my face what they did to our place

It is the hate of a heart that love cannot even trace

Why does it have to be this way

(CHORUS)