

Undun, Insecurity

Remember the truth
Every part of me cries out to hear the truth
But still I run away and start to come unglued
And now I'm nothing to you, and I'll never do what's needed
I'm waiting for you, and seeking what's true, believe it
I'm seeking what's true, and your trying to deceive it
I'm still waiting for you, and needing you to conceive it

Transformation takes hold of me
See myself as if within a dream
Splitting myself apart at the seams
Blind myself to insecurity
Your Insecurity

So now I'm running into some vision of you, I see it
Things that I never knew are dying in you, just leave it
Believing in you but nothing you do can free it
It splits me in two, regardless of you, I keep it

Every part of me, cries out to hear the truth
But still I run away, and start to come unglued

Transformation takes hold of me
See myself as if within a dream
Splitting myself apart at the seams
Blind myself to Insecurity
Your insecurity
Is taking over me
Living inside of me

Your insecurity, living inside of me, breeding inside of me, this insecurity, your insecurity

Remember everything was real it makes you feel as if Your lies, your guilt, your fear, your pain
Was all in vain I can't Escape the memory of this I can't digress
I am a part of this

Living with your lie
Living with your guilt
Living with your pain
Living with your fear

Is this how it's supposed to be?
Is this how I'm supposed to feel?
Is this the only way to escape what is real?
Let me out