

Undying, Fire Of Life

the fire burns within an incandescent flame kindled and rekindled.
the fire of life burns forever
self consumed and renewed.
everyplace and everything in this universe share in the blaze,
no one and nothing is exempt

humanity - born from the community of life yet somehow we separate ourselves from the world to which we belong nature's laws (divine laws) - we defy.

an unrelenting war waged against creation.
through providence.
i will surrender my only life

the fading sun caresses the horizon.
now it's time to finish what we've began take a look around - watch this world slowly die.

to dust corrupted vision.
human or not - life will go on

life eternal

self consumed and renewed.
everyplace and everything in this universe share in the blaze,
no one and nothing is exempt

the fire of life