ARMY BUGS

Soldiers sing of their beans and canteens,
Of the coffee in old army cup,
Why not mention the small friends we've seen Always trying to chew armies up ?

cho: Those firm friends , tireless friends, Hardly ever neglecting their hugs,
Their regard never ends,
How they loved us, those old army bugs.

Note: Whether called Cooties, or, to Confederate soldiers,
"Bragg's bodyguard" or "tigers", lice were a soldier's faithful companions.

tune: Sweet Bye and Bye
