

Unleashed Power, Blindfolded

it is immortal with uncanny will

it will be leading the merciless kill once again it strikes arms and grief will grow history tells us all we need to know the relentless lies penetrates them all glory can't be found

The nation will fall

it is immortal with uncanny will

it will be leading the merciless kill

the sins will be committed hiding behind a lie by distorted sight the different must die a continent got torn a nation with sick dreams the incubus is born the malaise tears up the seams the hatred was the same people throe and they pang the slough of despond came the demon is showing his fangs there are corpses and destruction all around prejudice and fanatics to be found atrocities have come to reign with pain they march in pride by this deranged campaign in self-righteousness deluded with hate changing the world and forever its fate

it is immortal with uncanny will

it will be leading the merciless kill took what they believed belonged to their domain never mind whose there spreading fear and pain crumbled in the dust beauty from the past can't be found again demolished and trashed

it is immortal with uncanny will
it will be leading the merciless kill