

Unleashed Power, Entombed

violating the old rules strangers to this land the creatures fall at this hand severed bones and limbs taken by superstition and greed beauty destroyed by this deed cynical annihilation of all the creations not a chance for evasions unnecessary killing scintillating in their rooms the species we will entomb the balance interrupted recalling the archaic time museum piece enshrouded hear the death bells chime senseless eradication

they must be killed and sold extinction of life

tales that must be told pernicious interference egoistic belief

proliferation of grief

in concordant harmony destroyed by the human pest implant the infectious nest