

Unshine, Rowena's Song

In oldest of old
spire of stone
in aeons unknown
away from her home
highest of high
was price for the life
in endless imprisonment
forlorn and alive

A beam of daylight
once brought scent of leaves a song from beloved
to a middle of the night
now ended are lies
her guardian has died
she found a second wind
in a blessing disguised

A wish for salvation
now all that remains
but walls of her chamber still echo the dreams

Tonight she leaves
this bleak world behind
tonight all her fears
wither out of sight

Will I die by the sun
and for ever lose my one
in this dark
all hope has gone
will you fly here by night and set me alight
in this dark
where all hope has gone