

UnSuNg ZeRoS, Life On Repeat

a walk in space, silence and i, here at two-hundred thousand feet we watch the oceans and the continents dance on time beneath our feet and down below the clouds and people, strange and plastic, so surreal as the whole thing spins by slowly i cannot decide what's real these days i don't have much to say, just watch the world from far away life on repeat, here strapped to this seat-- where i'll watch as it happens, over and over,
the same as before, but it hurts so much more,
you can watch as it happens, over and over to me... swallow down these bitter pills, of separations and defeats, doomed to watch recurring outcomes through your own life's history, in one million situations look alike behind disguise but you havn't learned your lesson, and i must not have learned mine, these days, i don't have much to say, just watch the good life slip away...
life on repeat, here strapped to this seat--
where i'll watch as it happens,
over and over,
the same as before, but it hurts so much more,
you can watch as it happens, over and over to me...
o v e r a n d o v e r...
life on repeat, here strapped to this seat--
where i'll watch as it happens,
over and over,
the same as before, but it hurts so much more,
you can watch as it happens, over and over watch as it happens over and over watch as it happens over and over to me...