

Untoten, Strange Inside

But this is the light for a daydream
The day on which i'm dying
And when i miss you sometimes
The moon gives me his shine
My heart is cold and dying

Obscene and something sweet
You told me i should fall
Because i felt so strange inside
You asked me to reveal my pain and obsessions i have with my suicide
You asked me to reveal my heart and obsessions i have with the dying moon

I have to scream for passion
I have to drink his blood and cry

I stopped into my soul
Boodblisters in a veil she gets
Sunflowers at the temple
The temple filled with smoke
When death revels his tail
The best way to get rid of you

My heart is cold and dying
Obscene and somethin sweet
You told me i should fall
Because i felt so strange inside
You asked me to reveal my pain and obsessions i have with my suicide
You asked me to reveal my heart and obsessions i have with the dying moon

I have to scream for passion
I have to drink his blood and cry

I have to scream for passion
I have to drink his blood and cry

Cry