

Upstanding Youth, Moments And Memories

I wish you would sit down with me.

I miss our long talks.

The inside jokes and names we gave to the people we hate.

We've gotten so caught up now in the lives we lead.

We've forgotten the things that made life so easy.

So find me the road that takes me back to those days.

I wish I could find someone who knew that road and the way.

Cause these are the moments that I'll miss the most,

so take me back there please.

And these are the memories that I'll miss the most and I keep them just for me.

I used to know just what I wanted, I lost my way.

My dreams got crushed cause I had even more bills to pay,

but even bills can't crush the good times we had.

Cause in the end these memories are all we had.
