

Uriah Heep, Time Of Revelation (Moving To A Fantasy World)

Won't you take a chance my brother
Follow me to a time of revelation
Can't you see that destiny will take a turn
And show there's no need to fight - 'cos you know it's right
And I finally see where I'm going
I finally know what I'm knowing
Now our journey's only just began
You won't need to ask forgiveness
What you find will be your inspiration
You don't have to pray for glory
All is equal on more pain you know it's true it's up to you
'Cos I finally see where I'm going
I finally know what I'm knowing
Now our journey's only just began
Over the bridge where you start to believe
Down at the edge of the rainbow
Dark is the night though it's in another time
Follow the light of your shadow
Right or wrong there is no reason
There will be no hidden destination
With the strength that you discover
You can show the way how it was meant to be for all to see
'Cos I finally see where I'm going
I finally know what I'm knowing
Now our journey's only just began
Over the bridge where you start to believe
Down at the edge of the rainbow
Dark is the night though it's in another time
Follow the light of your shadow