

Useless ID, Start All Over

Things will always be the same
As I think about the past
Lots of fun for much more pain
People like to take this chance
A better way to run away
You keep on lying to yourself
And if you think that I believe you
Then there are some more things
I have to say
You're not smiling
And I can see it on your face
If you're not smiling
Then you better do something else
If you're not smiling
There's probably something wrong
Start all over
You keep on telling me
That I don't understand
You keep on telling me
That I am not a friend
Well, let me tell you something
'Cause things are about to end
You better stop your lies
And start all over again
'Cause you're not smiling
And I can see it on your face
If you're not smiling
Then you better do something else
If you're not smiling
There's probably something wrong
Start all over