Utopia, Windows

You took that last corner too fast Careened up against the side wall For a moment everything went black Woke up inside somebody else's hideaway in a distant place Don't know your name or know this face And what you don't know hurts you so It can only be that way Feel yourself becoming someone else We may yet see that light at the end of the tunnel If we can find a way to keep things under control The web of life connects each of us to the other So it's no use pretending that you alone run the show Just like a moth too close to the fire explodes Though the myth is exposed You're still looking for windows in the sky Supernatural paradise is the place you are looking for All you need is a miracle divine All that's left is you alone Loneliness is all you own Feel yourself becoming someone else