

Valentine, Same Old Madness

Monday morning speaks and here we go again
It's an episode of saturday night live
Another week of feeling like a hamster on a wheel
Why am i not surprised
People talking at me, but i don't hear a word
Been working for the man from nine to five
I'll take my week's reward straight to the landlord
Living in this fool's paradise

[chorus]
It's just the same old madness
When life goes around in circles - it pulls you back
Into the same old madness
Your life going round in circles
Just gets you in the middle of a jam

[verse]
It's three o'clock on thursday and the car freaked out again
Like a random deja-vu inside my mind
I'm walking to the rhythm of the falling rain
Not my idea of a good time

[bridge]
So take me home, my darling
Take me home back to the farm
Where the days are free and easy

[verse]
We'll catch up on the weekend, but our destiny is clear
We're like two ships that go passing in the night
I wake up sunday morning just to face the fear
It's really monday, that's right
