

Vampire Knight, Two Heartbeats and Red Sins

Shaking in red, in red, in red
To the edge of the dream, of the dream
We cant be separated
Already, every time when Im stifled to death after I give up again and again
My emotions that have no place to go wake me up
Your flawless smile knows its an existence
So distant that its cruel
Even though the incurable wound only eats away at my heart
Even now I cant completely hold back my thoughts (that dwell) (within) the darkness
Shaking in red, in red, in red
To the edge of the dream, of the dream
We met; destiny begins to turn
A secret that no one, no one knows about
I fall, I fall, I fall
I certainly cant return anymore, even if I carve out my my sins
While I was walking in the abyss of loneliness, I was saved
By realistic eyes that never change
But a shadow born as the light is bright
Deeply and pronouncedly creeps up to me
The two heartbeats are exactly like mirrors facing each other
The (pains) are similar (but) different and continue infinitely
Burning in red, in red, in red
Erasing everything, everything
An unfulfilled illusion begins to move
Strongly, strongly
Overcoming, overcoming, overcoming the fleeting night
I certainly cant escape, even if I drown in my sins
Shaking in red, in red, in red
To the edge of the dream, of the dream
We met; destiny begins to turn
A secret that no one, no one knows about
I fall, I fall, I fall
I certainly cant return anymore, even if I carve out my my sins