

Vanden Plas, You Fly

Music: S.Lill

Lyrics: A.Kuntz

On that day you went away there was so much left to say words disappeared and faded without a trace memorized
mesmerising
field of dreams seer of entire to your limitation of being protecting your seed in a time and a land full of scars out of war you fly
just to see how all began to innocence
the reason for it all
you hold me
and you hurt me
and you can catch the light that shines on me sometimes when I sleep I try to heal your wounds within my dreams my life is younger than your eyes have never seen the sun again but they can tell so many common stories until the light failed him and you fly
to the seal of our love to hold the pages painted there above
and you fly
just to see what I've become improve the circle
the reason for it all