Veda, It's All Happening On Broadway

if you lay me down in this mess will i remember your name when you come back calling for me like you said you would do i trust your breath will sustain you in all your long hours do i love your weakness enough to see it as my strength do you come back to me when everyone else has failed you i am no more flattered by your wandering eyes than i am by your softly broken lies oh, the air is thick with betrayal we search for devotion and wind up settling for emotion you don't make me want to dance with you you make me wanna, you make me wanna make me wanna run and find something true something true, someone like you