

Vehemence, What Could Go Wrong

It started with so much love, Surrounded in your idyllic and pituresque perfect home
Moments so filled with joy, everyday warm with caring smiles, love and peace and comfort
That first day, at schoolso scared, parents there with arm around your shoulder holding your shakin

Life with no flaw
What could go wrong

Pain comes, from deep within, brought about by course of the human condition and destroys Resulting in the dreams end, and you see the rapid demise of this happy family
Substance to dull the pain, is consumed, now oblivious to the loss of all emotion
Mother came home so late, so fked up and ragged from having sex with another

whore cunt fked up
That's what went wrong

Now you need escape, you turn to the crowd
Get out of your mind to help you get through Numbness closes in and you close your eyes
Take in the poison breathe out thoughts of life

Now you need escape to help you get through Numbness closes in breathe out thoughts of life

Now you see that things went wrong

It started with so much love, wich was lost when the holes were filled by another
Watch your mom get fked in her ass to keep you all barely alive in this hell
And you think back to those days when you smiled she used to think about happiness

Life with no flaw
What could go wrong
