

Velcra, Solar Red

Time sewed us together with stiches through our scars
Depending on one another
Siamese twins with a single heart, we are

Little waves softly
Keep melting under my feet
Little waves softly
Replace the air that I breathe

Take a look at my heart
It's so empty and dark
Have a listen to my soul
It's so quiet and cold
Your embraces were not enough to change me
Your touch didn't bring me back to life
I never seem to lack inspiration
When I need another explanation
Brick by brick we built this tower of illusion
But instead of completion it has come tumbling down

Don't wait for too long
Don't leave the light on Cause I won't return back home
And each day we'll learn to forget
Bit by bit with every breath
Where do I end and the world starts?
It's all in our hands
All I'm looking for
I gotta find it on my own

Cause I've been building my plan b all these years
I don't remember anymore where the lead is Important to ensure there is no room for mistakes
In the process I lost all substance
Didn't wanna live for regret
Be happy to settle with anything that's left
Bit by bit I begin to realise that all I need is to believe in what I feel

Alone I stand alone I fall from this day on Where do I end? Where do I go?