

Velocity Girl, Labrador

Those glow in the dark hands tell me
I'm not as lost as I think
Blindness can't restrict my vision
I can see anything I want

Don't cross lines drawn on either side
Your own fences can't hold you in
Break out too fast and start to slide
Catch up with what you left behind

These days I don't bother talking
Because I can't say anything at all
Words escape at their convenience
You call it anything you want
