

Velocity Girl, Same Old City

she wrote him a letter, said leave me alone all i wanted was to walk you home it didn't mean that much to me anyway this place is so full of excuses makes me so tired and reclusive too many people just know me too well another feeling's gone
just another right made wrong if i knew where i was getting i would let you know
another feeling's gone
just another right made wrong
the hardest part is the ending i guess it's leaving time again it's the same old city everywhere i go you'd think by now i'd be getting to know guess i should learn how to take a hint i forgot to tell you about last night it took so long just to make it right all these things they change so fast