Velvet Acid Christ, Plasmodium

crawl in a world with a vision thing they drool on the floor in the translucent reality hallucinations are tying me to the floor and making me bleed deep down inside into the vision went through the wall a sight into a window pane of pain, but you're lifeless and you're poor and your life is on fire it bleeds the sign of life is here for you for you grinding sound of bone hitting pavement mucous drips out of this long nailed hand to a cross where it bleeds push you down into the sound no boring vision, helpless sign no bloody cross, it's genocide no bloody vision in my mind 'cause it's over here, it's genocide see it fade, through looking glass into the wall where you were last a vision of an image image, dragged into the time scanning sub-space frequencies scanning sub-space frequencies now we're all in this ship of death running down the universe where the cross is into you right into you, right through you crawl back into your hole where you came in, down now you see shakespeare was a dream in you once, and all i get is civil war, with bloody hands with nothing but a war and brainless kill, kill, kill now christ, christ, christ velvet, acid, hallucination christ velvet, acid elvis tears apart oh, oh, christ, christ, christ kneel to the field, then kneel at the altar and hold up the head which you cut fresh from the klan of nothing you hold this cum hold this gun it's in your cut off arms velvet acid christ christ, push into lips feel the vomit, sick shit vour lost law and maggots festering bacterial infection viral conjection