

Velvet Belly, Mystery

Slowly

We move across the misty water
There's something I want you to see
The break of day and this silent mystery
And how it makes you feel

Time flies

But now we're just sitting here
In deep silence
Just look around, look at the water flowing
There's nothing like it

Remember this night, the morning light
And its warm glow
I follow that dream of yours
This silent flow

We're so small

Here between these dark mountains
It's almost frightening
To be so alone, so far away from the city
But I can see that you like it

Remember this night, the morning light
And its warm glow
I follow that dream of yours
This quiet flow
