

Velvet Belly, River Slowly Growing

The table seems to grow between us
I try to look into your eyes
Not because I'm proud
But I'm afraid to lose you now
As I tell the truth about my lies
It will bring you down

It's been a river slowly growing
I didn't know I was caught in the stream
I've been holding on to you
But I lost myself in some other dream

Maybe you have seen it coming
'Cause you don't look surprised at all
You just keep a close watch

It's been a river slowly growing
I didn't know I was caught in the stream
I've been holding on to you
But I lost myself in some other dream
