

Velvet Belly, The Key

I closed the door behind you
Gently turned the key
Leaned my head to the wall
I didn't want you to leave

I did not know just who you were
But quiet, cold and very handsome
You didn't ask much
No, you didn't ask at all
You just watched me
To see

How far I was willing to go
Only to have you
It was your game I was playing along
Without knowing

I swallowed all
The discreet attention you gave Awaiting
'Cause you were tempting me
With your secrecy

How far I was willing to go
Only to have you
It was your game I was playing along
Without knowing

You didn't ask much
Not, do you want this...
