

Velvet Belly, The Station

music : Velvet Belly / Erik Honore

lyrics : Anne-Marie Almedal

Pale blue empty eyes
He's waiting at the station
He's following the running feet
Of people passing through There's still nothing new

His girlfriend promised to come
But a long time has gone
In his memory she is still so young
It all seems like yesterday
She can't be far away

How many times did you see her
Somewhere in the crowd
And how many times did you realise
It's all a lie
She is gone

This is too hard to forget
This can never be repaired
It was his knockout
And then everything turned black
He will never get her back

How many times did you see her
Somewhere in the crowd
And how many times did you realise
It's all a lie
She is gone
