

Venke Knutson, Love Explains It All

You say the words I need to hear
Dry my tears when I cry
You pull me close when I'm not near

You know the colours of my mind
Every breath that I take
And still they say that love makes blind

And here I am
Once again
Trying to think of what to say
And you're my friend
Knowing all of my dreams and my fears
And here we are - you and me
I guess love explains it all

I stay awake to watch you breathe
So much I should have said
Somehow I tell you when you sleep
I love the silence when you're near
And I love knowing you
And every word you say I keep.

And here I am
Once again
Trying to think of what to say
And you're my friend
Knowing all of my dreams and my fears
And here we are - you and me
I guess love explains it all

Time will pass
Time will change
Everything we know will turn to something else
Turn to something else

Time has shown
Us where to go
And still I wonder why you catch me when I fall
I guess love explains it all

Cause here I am
Once again
Trying to think of what to say
And you're my friend
Knowing all of my dreams and my fears
And here we are - you and me
I guess love explains it all

Here I am
Once again
Trying to think of what to say
And you're my friend
Knowing all of my dreams and my fears
And here we are - you and me
I guess love explains it all

Love explains it all
I guess love explains it all
Love explains it all