

Verse, Stolen

You know my tongue bleeds sometimes
From biting down for a good reason
I just can't go silent any longer
When those great pretenders
Fake what they know
About my life
Or any trials I've been through
So quick to judge another
And never looking at yourselves
You just sit around
Open mouthed
While filler words
Are falling out of your faces
When the only thing
You truly know about me is my name
All of the words you've been chewing on for years
Are just a bunch of jealous lies
And if you chew too much
You could end up choking
You took what was mine
Straight fucking stole it from my hands
Twisted it and tried to ruin it
(Choked all of the life from it)
Put a bad fucking name on it
But what I hold in my heart
IS REAL
So I'm sticking to my guns
I NEVER SAID A FUCKING WORD
