

Vicious Crusade, Let It Burn!

(Lyrics by Dmitry Basik)

Did you see the rays of light? Light turning black to white.
Or did you keep your eyes still closed, looking your own way?
Did you hear the tolling bell when heavens turned to hell?
Or did you keep your ears closed living your own day?
Did you scent the smell of flame? Or did it smell the same
With the scent of your daydreaming, sweet illusions guile?
Did you taste the taste of hope that turned to hangman's rope?
Or did you keep your lips still closed in a foolish smile?

(Chorus:)

And I tried to scream and cry - you wouldn't listen, not listen.

And I tried to wonder why - I got no reason, no reason.

And I tried to understand it was not season, my season.

So I've torn out burning heart to see it freezing...

Oh, let it burn, let it burn! Burn for ages.

Oh let it turn, let it turn, turn to ashes.

Now, when it's gone - no return, nothing matters.

Oh, let it burn, let it burn while the world is turning on.

Did you cry when world crashed down? Or were you not around?

With the feelings locked in prison, in your own cell.

Did you care, just ever care? Or you just stood and stared,

Hiding from your own reflection, from your own self.

(Chorus.)

The world is turning and so my heart is burning.

So, tell me should I try?

Forever strangers, oh will I understand you

With all your reasons why?

(Chorus)

Did you ever cry when I cried, when I cried?

Did you ever stay by me side, by my side?

Did you ever feel what I felt when it died?

Did you ever care? Did you dare? Or you lied?

Just being on the other side...
