

Victims Family, Soggy Cereal

If you blow the cobwebs off yer shelf and make some room for something else, you might be surprised just how well it fits, right up there next to the same old shit.

What a drag ideas are traded in for new ones one were jaded or maybe worse, not at all, see no windows, break no walls.

The more you find the more you can hold, new ideas will accept the old, no taboos and in the end, your shelves will hold your personal blend.