

VINCE GILL, The Children Are Crying

(Earl Taylor)

My heart it is aching you should be ashamed
The children are crying and calling your name

Well since you went away dear, I've felt so all alone
Well you left me the children but you've broken up our home
But you couldn't stop your cheating or running around
And now my friends are talking 'bout how you let them down

Well oh mommy oh daddy I think that it's a shame
Well I know you both love me but I don't know who's to blame
But you couldn't stop your cheating or running around
And now my friends are talking 'bout how you let them down
