

Vink, Oblivion

You try to give a good impression; it looks like you're having fun
Clever words of consolation, for those who fear it all
Wishing everyone could feel the same, hear all the right words
Been waiting for a long, long time, hope you can explain before we come undone
We all want to be forgiven, we all want it right now
We all need to be forgiven, we'll sing it out somehow
Simple words that have no meaning, they sing my favorite song
We might as well be singing, of the days now long gone
Everything will be so fine, fall into oblivion
We all want to be forgiven, we all want it right now
We all need to be forgiven, we'll sing it out somehow
Wishing everything was clear as daylight
So far away from the sun
Everything so right
Someday in the future
We all want to be forgiven, we all want it right now
We all need to be forgiven, we'll sing it out somehow
We'll sing it somehow (3x)