

Visqueen, Look Alive

I grew up a dancer
Who's feet were born to follow yours

Give me the answer
Because I'm sick and tired of straightening you out

You think your life is over
But it's only just begun
You think tonight's for closure
But look alive, you're not the only one

I wonder if she knew
How much it cost till you laid her down
Give me an answer
Why don't you tell me the one thing
That I've been waiting for since you came to town

You think your life is over but it's only just begun
You think tonight's for closure
But look alive, you're not the only one

It was such a long time
And you were just my kind
And I'm so glad you're alive

You think your life is over but it's only just begun
You think tonight's for closure
But look alive, you're not the only one

You tricked your life and ripped all sides of a wish tonight

When a quarter past too late still works to call you
Look alive, you've just been born
