

Voices, Entertainment

(M. Spohn, R. Peinelt, A. Torkler)

(from the album "Information", 1995) we live in a world where information comes on 24 hours a day and no-one's got a chance to escape, no-one can look away for every theme its own big channel on reality TV sports and war and so much more - we take part in history but everything has got its price so it must be commercialized it must be commercialized - oh yes, it must be commercialized and now: it's time for a commercial break! yeah, everything is ultra, everything is supra it's mega, it's light and better than ever, so buy it now or never but you should buy it before you ain't got the time anymore cause when the ultra-time increases speed it may be too late tomorrow so buy it now and you will never have sorrow the ultra-time has come but it is more like a bad dream when history's dirty scenes happen live on the TV screen emotionless the people stare at people dying in a war perverted entertainment, even religion's sold like a whore when the viewers sit next to the pilot in a flying F-15 the bomb that we just dropped was sponsored by candy chocolate cream the Nielsen rating was almost perfect at eighty-four percent and the prices of the slots for spots were raised to an unbelievable extent newsflash on ENTV, and these are the events: ENTV purchased broadcasting rights for the war against Cardassia for this project FS satellite 5 was launched successfully today two hundred billion dollar sponsoring contracts guarantee best quality telecast will be on 24 hours a day on ENTV's network 3 I had a frightening dream last night in holophonic sound and colours like real so bright they launched a satellite to air the final show of shows and somewhere in another galaxy the creatures didn't watch TV, they listened to the radio instead where the newsman said: in our neighbour galaxy something happened yesterday an accident occurred but nothing dangerous comes our way and in our world there are just the leaders of the former big states on their lonely flight in space in bunkers, radiation-save cause someone pressed the button it's the last thing he has done and now the Mars is number three eclipsing our sun pictures of some TV scenes in my head all a proove that this world is going mad harm, hurt and injury have become triviality with fascination we see devastation the bitter truth lies deep inside the mentality of the human race and we all have lost the good taste of style and grace noone anymore needs fantasy cause now there is reality-TV it shows us live from everywhere the entertaining art of brutality
