

Voxtro, Introduction

Open your eyes and stretch your hands,
This house is clean but it is not my home,
Did i make this bed, do two hands touch on two?

Sometimes I think of someplace colder,
The sound of traffic and the way it's warm,
When you feel yourself grow up inside of you

And you love me just like a stranger,
But you love me just like I am

Remember we ran through ugly streets,
We made our rules and then broke them first,
It felt like we were running all the time

But I wouldn't give one ugly moment,
I'd wrap it up, I'd keep it in my sock,
I can keep it, yeah, I know what's yours is mine

And you love me just like a stranger,
But you love me when i...

...slip into the sea that lets me love some other day,
We get bored of weakness all the time

I won't know how much I've lost until I've gone away, your sun sets when my sun starts to shine
