

Vroom, Dumb Like That

I think I see every star in the sky tonight
Removed from the city lights
Has never seemed so bright

I know I shouldn't believe a word you say
I do anyway
'Cause I'm dumb like that Oh, and all the words I've given to you
When you smiled I thought that it meant something else
You were just being yourself, being nice
You're always rather polite, to me

You let me down again
You ignored the things I said to you
If I was scared of you
Then maybe I could leave
And if I walked away right now
There would be nothing left for me to lose but doubt

I never fell so far for anyone before Never again I swore
With you hope was restored
You make me feel like I've been torn apart
I don't like that at all
I've lost control

Oh, And all the words I've given you
I poured my heart out into an empty coffee cup
You drank it up, left me here to drown, alone

You let me down again, when you ignored the things I said to you.
If I was scared of you, then maybe I could leave.
Cause if I walked away right now,
There would be nothing left for me to lose
But, I can't lose you, I can't lose you
I think I've seen every star that I care to see,
But I don't wanna leave.
It hurts when you're self deceived
I know I shouldn't believe a word you say,
I do it anyway, 'cause I'm dumb like that.
And all the words, I've given to you
When you smiled I thought that it meant something else.
You were just being yourself, being nice,
your always rather polite, to me.

You let me down again,
when you ignored the things I said to you
If I was scared of you then maybe I could leave
Cause if I walked away right now,
there would be nothing left for me to lose but doubt.
but doubt, but doubt, but doubt.
There's nothing left, there's nothing left
for me to lose but doubt,
there's nothing left, there's nothing left
for me to lose but doubt,
there's nothing left, there's nothing left.