Destiny's To Come

(Judah to Jesse) There's a new world I see it, coming here after you If you knew where And when it was coming Maybe you'd know Know you're through New world, it's all been changing There's nothing you can do It's a new time Disciples arranging The Pay-Per-View end of you

You were forewarned I'd betray you for everything That you'd do You're leaving this world Don't let me stop Your destruction of you

Could you do more Oh, if only someone Ever loved you You could've been someone The world's waiting Oh, testament of your truth

New day
A new world is coming
No Resurrection's due
Oh, well give'em tickets
To the crucifixion
Oh, the last of you

Goodbye my Neon Dion my Darkness My Neon God of Eden's so blind Because I wish away all of your sorrows I wash my hands of your life Ain't nothing that can change a thing Nothing can blame your death to be Nothing can change our destinies To come Destinies to come Destinies to come
