

Waking Ashland, Drought Of 2001

The drought of 2001
Still goes on and on
Sometimes I wonder
Where I went wrong
Should have stayed here
Should have stayed here
It's been too long of a year
The colors gone from this place
I spend a lifetime waiting
Oh for you

These are feelings I hid for so long
Can't get them out of my head
Because everybody knows
Some things always show
Feelings because of you

It's dark on Mountain View road
Time is pushing me forward
Your footprints are so cold on my heart
They won't leave me
They won't leave

Your shadows left on many places
Lately I've been trading faces
One by one
I can't stop holding on
I'm still waiting for that invitation
To change your mind and position
Darling now what have you done?
