

Wallis Bird, Blossoms In The Street

It was a brief, mad affair
A place where men don't dare
But man has no place for me here

In the distance there was fun
In front of me there was none
And reservations stared me in the eye

Silently volatile, you broke me down on trial
And ask me if I'd change my life
Well no thanks, not tonight

Oooh Blossoms in the Street Dare Me
Lost in pleasantries Nearly
Pushed me off my feet There is
Someone who believes in me, someone who believes in me

Ba Da Ba Da Bum

So I put my guns away
And shave my legs that day
In hope someone may want to touch my skin
So don't bother to be coy
All it does is annoy
Is this where we start?
Is this where we begin?

Silently volatile, you broke me down on trial
And ask me if I'd change my life
Well no thanks, not tonight

Oooh Blossoms in the Street Dare me
Lost in pleasantries Nearly
Pushed me off my feet There is
Someone who believes in me, someone who believes in me
