

Walter Egan, Someone Like You

by Walter Egan

There's something in the way you say my name,
Like a child warm and mending,
It kills the demons and it makes me sane,
Love forever never ending.
And when I'm weary of this world I find,
And better days I could be spending,
The sight of you can make me feel so fine,
Love forever, never ending,
With Someone Like You.

I've heard some people say that love is blind,
But I believe that love is blending,
'Cause when I'm with you this is what I find,
Love forever, never ending,
With someone like you.

Nobody could understand, odd things that I do,
But now I know someone can, somebody like you.

There's something in the wind that stirs the air,
A strong desire hot and pending,
To be with you and then together share,
Love forever, never ending,
With someone like you...
