

Wanda Jackson, This Time's The Next Time

This time's the next time I warned you the first time
The next time's the last time so this time we're through
You wasted your next time cause this time's the last time
There'll be no more next time darling for you
You spent too much bear time in the shadows of night time
So honey it's about time I found someone new
How you find a new past time before it's too late time
Then I won't have time to cry over you
(steel)
You spent too much bear time...
